

Background Check Policies

Certified coaches must pass a new criminal history check through the NCSI background check application in order to recertify. The fee is $20 for most U.S. citizens but does vary by state. International background checks cost more and vary by country. Each candidate must complete and pass the required background check through NCSI or recertification is denied. Effective January 1, 2011, there is no appeal process for failed background checks. There are no exceptions.

A failed background check results in the candidate being ineligible for recertification. There is no appeal process for failed background checks. Current coaches will not be grandfathered in. If a coach receives a red light and believes the red light is in error, the applicant should work with NCSI directly to resolve the matter.

USA Triathlon and USA Cycling use the same company and criteria for background checks. If you have completed a background check for USAC, please follow these steps to enable USA Triathlon to see the results:
